Barbara M. Khoury, 92

April 27, 1930 - August 10, 2022

Barbara, affectionately known as Aunt Barb, was a longtime resident of Manhattan, residing there with her husband of over 59 years, Albert H. Khoury. Barbara was born in Chicago, Illinois, and graduated from Michigan State, in the Spring of 1953, fluent in both French and Spanish. After a whirlwind romance, she and Albert married, and moved to Manhattan. Having been a White Sox fan, where her Father worked most of his life, she soon became a Yankees fan. Barbara was a real go-getter in Advertising/Product Development for many years, and later, in the Fashion industry. She and Albert traveled extensively, and maintained a residence in the Hamptons, along with their residence in Manhattan. After her dear Albert passed away, Barbara relocated to Orlando, Florida in 2018, to be close to her niece and caretaker, Elizabeth.

Barbara was very popular and always had an interesting and/or humorous story to share about the many aspects and times in her life. Barbara had a passion for baseball and golf, and watched both regularly, while finding time for Downton Abbey, as well. Barbara prayed everyday, for all of her family and friends, and always by name.

Barbara is predeceased by her parents, her brother Larry, and her beloved Albert. Barbara is survived by her niece, Elizabeth Dryden, along with many nieces and nephews, and great nieces and nephews, and her cousins. She will be missed by all who knew her.

“ Aunt Barb was my father sister therefore my aunt! And as a small child I would not let her husband and her leave when they came to our house. I was very very fond of them. I did not get to see her much growing up they lived in New York and she my father weren't especially close. I did not know this until her and Al came to San Francisco where I live and we went to lunch. We had such a fabulous time and they were just a delight to spend the afternoon with. I learned at this lunch that she was not fond of my father and I had no idea.

Sometimes communication it's not forthcoming and because of that people can become estranged. I shared this information with my mother who talked with my father and later the two of them started to talk a lot more and kept in touch until Larry passed in 2017. They had similar and delightful senses of humor. And after that her and I kept in touch going forward and I'm so very glad that we did.

Unfortunately, we lived on opposite sides of the country and I, like my father am addicted to working so there was not a lot of in person contact. But I was able to stay connected by phone and had delightful phone conversations. She was a very special person with a great sense of humor and filled with fabulous stories. The stories were so unique because she was a strong woman and ahead of her time. Barb and her husband actually lived in Lebanon for a number of years as Al was in the oil business. She had many great stories of her experiences there are and behaviors that were excepted and not excepted. I found it fascinating to listen to. Barb was very close to our side of the family and had many nieces and nephews, Elizabeth being the one that she was very close to. But I felt blessed that I was able to keep in touch with her in my adult life and the world was a much better place for having Barbra in it! Rest In Peace Aunt Barb! You will always be missed!
